What is Pride Conference Anyway?

Pride Conference is a yearly happening during Gay History Month when Identity, Inc. brings together speakers and organizations from across Alaska and Outside to present information relevant to GLBT life. Heather Carter from the Youth Suicide Prevention Program in Seattle is the keynote speaker.

A sampling of the workshops offered this year by several of our community members are:

- Democracy From the Bottom Up
- Identifying and Coping with the Impact of Religion on Gay Youth
- Knowledge=Power=Equality: Promoting Your Rights at School
- Drag 101

Two community groups presenting will be Four A’s and the YWCA.

You may attend whichever workshops speak to your little heart and munch on a breakfast snack and lunch provided by The Last Frontier Men’s Club. Parking is free at the University Center Mall.

Come and join us for a day of GLBTA fellowship and learning!

Gay History Month
By Reverend Johnathan Jones

October is a very special month for queer people. There is National Coming Out Day, GLBT History Month, Anchorage Pride Conference, and it was in the month of October in 1968 that the first ever worship service of Metropolitan Community Church was held. Reverend Troy Perry had been kicked out of his Southern Pentecostal church when it had been discovered that he was gay. After many trials in gay Los Angeles and a revelation from God, Rev. Perry started the Metropolitan Community Church of Los Angeles. This was so successful that by the middle of the 1970’s there were churches on the East and West Coasts of the US, in Europe and Australia and, of course, (my most favorite place on Earth) Alaska.

As we celebrate GLBT history month, I would like you to think of the things for which you should be thankful. I know that traditionally we keep our thanks for Thanksgiving, but maybe you could all start a little early. I am thankful for the courageous heroes who continued on page 3
Markel “Mark” Trick and Michael French of Anchorage were married July 8, 2008 at Enderts Beach in Redwoods National Park near Crescent City, California. Mark and Michael exchanged vows on a scenic overlook high above the secluded beach before a small group of personal friends. Vicki Frazier, Del Norte Country Clerk-Recorder, officiated.

The couple took a honeymoon trip along the Oregon coast and Columbia River valley. Prior to being legally wed, Mark and Michael celebrated 20 years together on February 16, 2008.

Upon returning to Alaska, they look forward to spending a long life together in their new east Anchorage home.

Mrs. and Mrs. Smothers of Anchorage, Alaska and Dallas, Texas were wed August 5, 2008 at the annual Sturgis biker rally in South Dakota. Anna wore white chaps and white veil and her wife wore jeans and bandana. They pledged their vows in a beautiful biker ceremony and then revved up the engine and rode their Harley away into the midday sun.

Thank you to the activists who went out to protest the anti-gay message of the ex-gay conference, Love Won Out. The first photo is of Christina and the second photo is of Mike and the Grand Duchess talking to a conference attendee.

What Is Identity and Why Should I Join?

Identity, Inc. is a non profit umbrella organization supporting a variety of programs serving the GLBTA community of Alaska, such as the Gay and Lesbian Community Center (GLCCA), HelpLine, Advocacy Team, PrideFest including the Pride Parade and Pride on the Park Strip, and much more. When you become a member you help support this programming and you get this groovy newsletter to boot and all for just a cool tax deductible $30 a year. If $30 a year sounds like too much, you can always think of it as 81/2 pennies a day. Won’t you help fund this programming, if not for yourself, then for others?

fought for equal rights in the US from Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. to Matthew Shephard, to the many congress members and senators who voted in favor of the Matthew Shephard anti-discrimination Act, to the founder of MCC Worldwide, and those brave souls who started MCC Anchorage. I am also very thankful for the brave states within the U.S. and the brave countries from Massachusetts to my new home in the United Kingdom who have courageously legalized same-sex marriage or civil partnerships.

Now that I have left Alaska and MCC Anchorage, I have spent the last 6 weeks or so thinking of how much I have loved and appreciated my time in Anchorage. MCC Anchorage is an amazing church with many amazing people. Alaska is a beautiful state where one can’t help but give thanks for the beauty that abounds! And, I can’t help but give thanks for the opportunity that has allowed me to work here in Edinburgh, Scotland, and experience firsthand the wonderful history, beauty and spirituality of the United Kingdom. I have been in a church over 800 years old and played in old castles.

As October comes around and we celebrate GLBT History Month reflect on the things worth celebrating and strive ambitiously for the equality that still needs to be achieved!
Spotlight on . . .

Mad Myrna/Jeff Wood and Mad Myrna’s

Editor: October is Gay History month. Will you tell me about your gay history?
Myrna/Jeff: Let’s see… I was born and raised in Alaska. I grew up in the Roger’s Park area. Around my 20th birthday (January 31st) I went to my first gay bar with my friend Izzy. It was the Bon Fire, Anchorage’s first real gay bar. Three days later I was working there washing glasses and such. Gordo’s came next. That is where I started tending bar. Gordo’s was built to be a chippy bar. Chippy means when you cheat on your significant other. It was a hide-out type place. All the tables had French phones that could be used to call the DJ area to request a song or to call other tables. Then there was the Rendezvous. That is where I learned I liked music, especially disco.

Editor: Were you a Disco Queen?
Myrna/Jeff: Oh, honey, I still am! I recorded music at home on my ironing board and then brought it in to Rendezvous to play on a reel to reel on the weekends. Randy built me a portable disco cart which I named KGAY. Then there was Eddie’s Sandbox at Raspberry and Jewel Lake. It was a redneck bar where we had Winter Palace in the basement. Next I was DJ at Disco Dan which was in the basement of Goldie’s. Then Waltraud Barron and I opened the Village which was where the Kodiak is now. It was a time of excess and blatant snowstorms. I do not remember much of the middle 1980’s. The Village was not doing well so we made it into a strip joint named The Shady Lady which lasted about ten months. I kind of burned out and got tired of it all. I went to work for O’Brady’s on Tudor for ten years. Then my Godfather asked me if I wanted to go in and take over The Moon. I thought it was about time to get back in the business so where the Moon used to be we opened Mad Myrna’s October 15, 1998. Our ten year anniversary is coming up. I think of Myrna’s as our little gay Moose Lodge. Things are slowing down now and we are having a hard time. The economy is hurting people and younger people go on the Internet instead of meeting people in bars. I think the time of gay bars is becoming a thing of the past. It is a shame.

Editor: What advice or mentoring do you have for young GLBT people?
Myrna/Jeff: Kids are growing up too fast. The main thing is the disease factor. It is a nasty nasty disease. You cannot be too careful. I have seen hundreds die. I was at the first Four As meeting and part of getting it started.

Editor: If you were king of the GLBT world, what would you do?
Myrna/Jeff: I wouldn’t do it! No! I would refuse the job and be supportive of whoever was king. I was queen once. I would love to see less bickering and drama. I would love for all of us, me included, to start focusing more on the positive, to look for and appreciate the good things.

Editor: Will you tell me some personal things about you?
Myrna/Jeff: I was Empress XI and have been involved with the Imperial Court since the beginning. I am an old maid married to the bar. I watch way too much Home and Garden channel on TV. I love my home, my network of friends, and travel. I like to collect jewelry and art work. I am kind of laid back now. I am wearing down a bit. I have been at this 38 years and my batteries are running low.

Editor: Will you tell me something people don’t know about you?
Myrna/Jeff: I am very shy, especially when it comes to dating. Nobody will believe it but it is true.

Editor: How could someone win your heart?
Myrna/Jeff: Win the lottery and take me away from all this to Kona, to someplace with a nice beach, a little grass hut, cabana boys, and a few cabana girls (continued on page 5) for my lesbian friends. I am an honorary lesbian, you know. We used to do the Athena Ball in the summer. It was like an emperor empress type thing. I was made an honorary lesbian.

Editor: Are you here most of the time? How can people contact you?

Myrna/Jeff: I work Mondays and Tuesdays and as needed. Come by and see my new Misty smile! Misty Dawn (Empress XIII) was one of our waitresses and performers here for years. We lost her two years ago. When she got her new teeth it was a big thing and she was so proud and happy. So, now that I have mine I go around and smile like Misty and I say “See my new Misty smile.” She would get a very big kick out of it.

Editor: Please tell me about Mad Myrna’s.

Myrna/Jeff: We are located at 530 E 5th Ave, Anchorage, AK 99501, (907) 276-9762 and are open 4pm to 2am seven days a week.

We have DJ Allie for karaoke on Tuesdays; DJ Doug for retro on Wednesdays; Byg Wykid techno on Thursdays; and on Fridays our variety and drag show hosted by Allie and Daphney. Saturdays are open for special events. On Friday and Saturday Lola cooks all authentic New Mexican cuisine. She is noted for her great tamales. We are here for the community for weddings, parties, bar mitzvah, exorcisms, conferences, lunch, dinner, coffee, tea, or me. We have a full kitchen and room for 150 people. Events do not need to be alcohol related. We have pool tables, video games, and a smoking patio.

The Advocacy Team

Identity’s Advocacy Team has been busy providing more and more presentations informing, dialoguing, and advocating at high schools, universities, governmental agencies, religious institutions, medical/healthcare forums, and in the media. They have been working not only to educate and advocate complete inclusion and equality for all GLBT people but to maintain a strong positive visible GLBT presence in the larger community. Kudos for the excellent work!

If you or your organization would like to schedule a speaker or panel, please call (907) 929-4528 or e-mail advocacyteam@gmail.com.

Summer Fun at PrideFest
Volunteers

A Warm Welcome to Our New Volunteers!

Hello! I am Casey Tahenakos. I volunteer at GLCCA and like to hang out there as well to work on the computers, visit with friends, or watch TV. One of my favorite things to do is read books, usually fantasy-fiction, but every now and then I like a good horror. My favorite authors are Mercedes Lackey, Ann Rice, and Pierce Anthony. I love science, mainly earth sciences such as geology, and outdoor activities like camping, hiking, and walking on the beach. I enjoy playing video games and my spiritual beliefs. Politics is something I do not like and often will not discuss. I am in a wonderfully happy relationship. Sorry guys - he he.

Thank you for taking a moment to read my hello! I may be reached at Morpheusgrkboy@yahoo.com.

Hi. My name is Daniel Moore and I am a new Identity volunteer. I like to have fun, laugh and hang-out with friends. I love to be outdoors and the whole hiking and camping experience. I like to find ways to make things fun and entertaining. Oooh, something shiny. I am 52 years old backwards. I like to meet new people so come on by GLCCA and say hello.

I used to volunteer at the Seward Teen and Youth Center and now volunteer at the Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Anchorage.

I can be reached at Peacelove_1@hotmail.com

Hello! My name is Azure Elle Dominguez. I love to write poetry but music seems to be the key to my life. I play alto and baritone saxophone, guitar, and piano, and am trying to keep up the courage to continue singing songs I have written. I am known for my crazy love of making a fool of myself by singing karaoke every chance I get. Currently, I attend UAA and am aiming to achieve a dual major in philosophy and psychology. I can be contacted at azureL@live.com.

Volunteers Needed

Uncle Sam may want you but GLCCA needs you. You do not have to be able to work a shift every week to be of great help as a volunteer. If you can work a three hour shift once or twice a month, or even just be on call, we would be thrilled. You can even bring your homework or other work to do when it is not busy. We provide training and, unlike Uncle Sam, we will not make you do push-ups or run laps. If you think you would like to help, please go by GLCCA (336 East 5th Avenue or e-mail www.info@identityinc.org to request an application.

Coronation

Meet Emperor Michael Bartels and Empress Paula Butner, newest royalty of the Imperial Court of All Alaska (ICOAA). They invite you to join them for a year of campy and fun events. A calendar of events and contact information can be found on the ICOAA website at http://imperialcourtałaska.org/calendar.htm.

This year there is a big difference in presidential candidates. Please do your research and vote on November 4th.

What Is Adopt-A-Day?

Adopt-A-Day is a way for you to shine! It costs money to keep the Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Anchorage (GLCCA) open. While every single staff member is a volunteer we still need to pay for rent, utilities, Internet, and other expenses. To adopt-a-day means that you donate $50.00, the approximate cost of keeping GLCCA open for one day. GLCCA puts up a sign in the community center to dedicate that day to you or to whomever or whatever you may wish to honor or recognize. Not only do you get to give the great gift of helping to keep GLCCA open for the GLBTA community, but it is all tax deductible for you as well! You can become the proud new parent of an adopted day or two, give a gift to the GLBT community, and get a tax deduction, too! It is a win-win-win situation! What could be better?

Adopt Days

A gigantic thank you and congratulations to the wonderful people listed below who have adopted days in the fourth quarter of the year. It is not too late. We have plenty of days just waiting to be adopted by a good parent like you.

A Tribute to Everyday Heroes was the theme for the XXXVI coronation celebration. The secret identities of Wonder Woman and Green Lantern super heroes will not be revealed. The historical variety of military hero is Identity Board member Steve Gingrich. The woman in crown and sizzling red dress is Rhonda Sheer, ICOAA representative to Identity Board of Directors.
Hello,

May I tell you a true story?

One sunny beautiful day last summer, a teenaged boy walked in the door of the Gay and Community Center of Anchorage (GLCCA). He was from a small town in West Virginia and was visiting Anchorage as part of a missionary group from his Southern Baptist church. He said he had planned ahead to be able to ditch the group and come to GLCCA. He said everybody and everything in his hometown environment taught that being gay was terribly wrong. So he hid and he kept his secret until his trip to Anchorage. He kept trying to express what it meant to him to be in an environment, such as GLCCA, where it was not only okay to be gay, but seemed to be accepted as perfectly normal, maybe even something to be celebrated. He did not pick up a book, look at a movie, or even get on a computer. He just sat there and smiled his happy smile of pleasure and relief and talked. He could not get enough of simply being able to talk out loud about being gay. Of course, after a few minutes, the group he had ditched was calling his cell phone. He managed to squeak out 30 minutes in GLCCA, stuff his backpack with mementos, and then he left – walking taller than when he had entered only half an hour ago.

This young man found his first experience of being accepted as a gay individual because people, like you, have funded GLCCA, in part by adopting one or more days a year. Wouldn’t you like it to be on your day, the day GLCCA is open because you adopted it and gifted it to the community, that some young person finds it is possible to be gay and okay?

To adopt a day, please complete the form on the back of this letter, visit our website (www.identityinc.org), telephone GLCCA (929-4528), or come in and visit us. Thank you very much for your help.

Sincerely,

Phyllis Rhodes
